

SENIOR OFFICERS HAVE MADE GOOD ACTIVITY RECORDS

Athletics, Journalism, and Society
All Have Representatives

ROBINSON A MEMBER OF JUNIOR PROM COMMITTEE

All the new officers of the Class of 1924 are well known throughout the undergraduate body, and most of them have good records in activities. W. H. Robinson, Jr., who will be president of the Senior Class next year, has a record worthy of that office. This has included membership on his class baseball team for three years and the freshman basketball team.

In addition to sports he has become well known by his work on the Junior Prom and Prize Song Committees and as treasurer of his class during the past year. "Bill," as the new president is known, has also proved his ability as a politician and diplomat in his work on the Technique Electoral Committee and by his ability to be elected to the highest office in the student body twice within a space of two weeks.

R. C. Eaton is the Senior vice-president. He has worked consistently as a crew man for the last three years and last year was captain of his class boat. Attending the Course I summer camp last August may account for many of his votes as he was a popular and prominent member of the group.

Secretary Likes Position

W. H. Manning increased the margin of his victory for class secretary by a number of votes. Like the new president he is a member of the class baseball team, holding down the position of second baseman. "Shorty" was recently elected secretary of the M. I. T. A. A., which position seems to be a favorite with him. Last winter he was boxing manager.

The new treasurer, F. G. Hamner, was a member of the class Executive Committee during the latter part of the year just closed. He is also known as the portfolio editor of Technique 1924, and as a member of the electoral committee of that publication.

Editors on Executive Committee

C. M. Phelps and A. D. Carothers were closer together in the new election than in the first one but, "Charlie" still led in the number of votes. He probably attracted much of his support from the military and civil engineering summer camps of last year. Phelps also held the position of societies editor of Technique, and has been active in T. C. A. work. The majority of Carothers' support probably came from the dormitories, though he may have obtained some as a member of the "Brotherhood of Radio Bugs."

H. B. Kane and F. A. Barrett were the successful candidates for members of the Executive Committee. Kane is well known for his work as art editor of Voo Doo. He has drawn practically all the covers for that magazine for the last year, in addition to having much of his work printed on the inside. Frank Barrett has made a wide acquaintance through his work on The Tech, of which he is sporting editor.

Investigates Leviathan

Several Technology freshmen, whom the Military Science Department took on a tour of the harbor forts last Saturday afternoon, detected the S. S. Leviathan, the largest American ship in operation, in drydock at South Boston, and decided that they would go on a little tour of exploration of their own. With the assistance of a good-natured marine guard, they were able to worm their way into the drydock, but one Course XIII freshman was not contented with looking at the giant vessel from the outside and marched up the gangplank and demanded to see the captain. The guard took his card to Captain Hartley, who spoke the magic word which enabled the embryo naval architect to come aboard.

The captain, who was fortunately a very pleasant man, received the Tech fresh in his cabin on the top deck, and displayed the various instruments on the bridge. "So you are from Boston Tech," he said. "I suppose you want to go to sea. It seems that about every young fellow in the country wants to ship on this boat. So far I

Faculty Club Has Seventy Present at Last Meeting

The Faculty Club held its final meeting of this year, Tuesday night, making the occasion ladies' night. As many of the members of the local alumni are associate members of the club there were about seventy present. Prof. J. R. Jack of the Naval Architecture department gave a talk, illustrated by Lumiere Autochrome slides, on "Scottish Flora." Among others he showed the famous Scotch heather, and spoke of curious plants which have the power to eat small animals such as ants.

At the business meeting, Professors H. W. Tyler '84, R. R. Lawrence '95, and E. E. Bugbee '00 were re-elected as president, vice-president, and secretary respectively. Professors A. H. Gill '84, H. M. Goodwin '90, W. S. Hutchinson '92, and W. H. Timbie were elected to the executive committee.

The evening ended with dancing and refreshments.

GEORGE SWARTZ '23 HEADS N. E. I. C. A. A.

Major Briggs '81 Made Delegate from New England on Olympics

George Swartz '23, president of the M. I. T. A. A. for the coming year and manager of the track team for the past year added one more executive position to the many he already holds, when he accepted the presidency of the New England Intercollegiate Athletic Association to which he was elected last Saturday. He is also on the Executive Committee of the I. C. A. A. A., representing Technology.

At the same meeting Major F. H. Briggs '81, who has been chairman of the advisory council of the N. E. I. C. A. A. for many years, was chosen delegate to the American Olympic Committee. A committee was also selected to investigate the petition for admission to the association tendered by Northeastern University, which, if accepted, will increase the membership to 22.

The other men who were elected to hold offices in the association are: vice-president, H. P. Etheridge, Williams; secretary, W. H. Dodd, Jr., Amherst; treasurer, J. H. Johnson, Bowdoin. There was also a change in the governing body of the Association, which heretofore consisted of the managers of the various track teams. Under the new system it will consist of the retiring track managers. This means that the men that served this year will serve as delegates next year again. The association is also putting out a new book of rules and regulations as there have been many changes since the last book was issued two years ago.

DORM PROM TICKETS NEARLY BOUGHT OUT

Music to Start at 8:30 o'Clock
Even if No One Has Arrived

When a check of ticket sales was made at the Dormitory Dance Committee meeting last night, it was found that practically all of the tickets for the "Dormitory Promenade," to be held Friday evening, had been sold. The volume of sales to date is sufficient to insure the financial success of the affair, including the provision for the presentation of all of the novelties planned.

The dance will be semi-formal. Ed Wittstein will personally lead his Prom Orchestra, which will furnish the music for the evening. Favors will be distributed to all those attending. The space under the balconies will be clear, as provision is to be made for the use of the side porches for sitting out dances.

The matrons for the dance are Mrs. R. P. Bigelow, Mrs. W. M. Ross and Mrs. H. S. Ford. The committee wishes to announce that the music will start promptly at 8:30 o'clock, regardless of the number present, and will continue until 1 o'clock. The remaining tickets may be obtained from the Dormitory Dance Committee, or the Walker Memorial Committee.

COACH FRANK KANALY RESIGNS TO GO TO MAINE

Action to Be Taken by Advisory Council at Meeting
Tomorrow

HAS BEEN WITH TEAM FOR LAST SIXTEEN YEARS

Was in Orono over Week-End for Conference with Pres.
Little

Reports from the University of Maine that Coach Frank Kanaly was to transfer his activities to Orono next fall were verified last night by the track coach, who said that his resignation had been handed to the Advisory Council on Athletics this week. Coach Kanaly went to Orono since the intercollegiate, and it is understood that offers for his services from Maine as well as from several other institutions, were such as to make a change desirable.

Sixteen Years of Service

Frank has been at Technology for sixteen years, in which time he has put track athletics on a standard which reflects only credit to his system and ability. His promotion three years ago to a position as a member of the Faculty marked the first case in American college annals where the work of a track mentor won him such a distinction, and as far as is known, only one other similar appointment has been made up to the present time.

No Action Yet

The resignation of Technology's track leader has not been acted on by the Advisory Council, as far as is known, and while formal negotiations have been made with the Maine authorities, it is not certain that he will be lost; much depends on the action of the Advisory Council. Frank has grown into Institute athletics in his sixteen years here, and according to members of the track team, it will be

Army in Good Condition

"Judging from the form they showed tonight," said Lieut. E. H. Levy in speaking of the freshman battalion practice review last night, "I expect a very good showing next Monday. There were very few mistakes made and these were such that are easily corrected." The battalion was made up of all the freshman R. O. T. C. sections, and contained about 440 men. The review was conducted in preparation for the formal review and presentation of medals next Monday.

By calling the names Jones, Brown, and Smith last night, for medal winners, the commanding officer led many men to think that awards had already been made, and prepared them to congratulate their friends of those names. The names of the prize winners will not be known until next Monday, as the final competition takes place an hour before the review.

OFFICERS ELECTED YESTERDAY SAME AS BY ORIGINAL BALLOT

W. H. ROBINSON, JR.
President of Class of 1924

1893 REUNION SET FOR JUNE 8 TO 10

Plan to Spend Friday Through Sunday at Algonquin
Club in Wianno

The Class of 1893 is planning to hold a three day Thirty Year Reunion next June during the week-end preceding graduation. June 8 to 10 is the date set and already a large number have signified their intentions of being present, and about half of them seem to be bringing their wives also.

A two page circular and a questionnaire have been mailed to members of the class to find out if they are coming, and replies have been coming in with increasing rapidity. The reunion will be at the Algonquin Club in Wianno, on Cape Cod. While many will be present for the whole reunion, it is expected that others will only find it possible to attend a part of the program.

A luncheon at the Algonquin will open the event, and will be followed by a fancy dress dinner party that night. Saturday there will probably be golf, tennis, and baseball. The class has also been invited to afternoon tea by F. W. Fabyan '93, and his wife at their home which is located near the club.

Saturday night comes the big feature of the reunion, the class dinner. A special dinner for the ladies will be provided that night also, so that they will not feel slighted. The majority of the class will probably motor back from Wianno Sunday afternoon.

H. A. Morse '93, of the committee in charge, said last night that it was hoped that many would attend the inauguration of President Stratton Monday.

351 MEN SIGNED BALLOTS--ONLY 275 LAST TIME

Only Six Men Change Rank by Revote--Five Officers
from Course VI

In the election held yesterday the Class of 1924 showed that, although many had been denied the privilege of voting in the first election, it was well enough pleased with the result of its first choice to elect exactly the same men over again.

This means that in the race for the presidency, which was closest before, W. H. Robinson, Jr., showed that there was no doubt about the fact that he was the choice of the class, for 160 of the 343 votes cast for president were opposite his name. L. P. Marsh, who was one vote behind Robinson before, received only 109 votes. The other three candidates, who were clearly out of the race from the beginning, received only 74 votes between them.

Eaton Vice-President

In all 351 votes were cast, which is 76 more than the 275 votes of the Junior Class in the recent election. This fact seems to indicate that the first election might easily have not represented the sentiment of the class, although the opposite has proved to be the case. Of the 351 voting, 343 voted for president and only 303 for treasurer.

R. C. Eaton increased his former total from 79 to 93 votes, in his race for the vice-presidency. F. S. Hungerford was second with 64 votes. The contests for secretary and treasurer were both walkaways. W. H. Manning winning the former with 142 votes to 61 for J. J. Wickham, while F. G. Hamner received 116 votes for treasurer against 70 for P. H. Scott.

Five Course VI Men Elected
C. M. Phelps added 11 votes to his former total to give 97 and A. D. Carothers added 20 for an 86 and were therefore elected to the Institute Committee. D. W. Murdock was third for the second time with 77 votes. For Executive Committee H. B. Kane increased his score from 91 to 144, and F. A. Barrett jumped from a 64 to a 94. G. H. Cowan was again third with 60 votes.

It has been pointed out that Course VI has scored a decisive triumph in the election. Of the eight men elected, five are straight Course VI men, (Continued on Page 3.)

Country Club Offers Facilities to Gunners

Last night the Coast Artillery Unit of the R. O. T. C. held their annual banquet in the north hall, Walker Memorial. With the help of Sergeant Holmes, former Mess Sergeant, dinner for thirty was served by representative K.P.'s E. I. Richardson '24, and P. P. Pratt '23, were the only two who showed up. Pratt also acted as toastmaster. Each man present was called on for some remark.

Major Putney invited all the men to reattend the camp this summer at Fisher Island. He explained that leave would be granted each week-end from Saturday noon to Monday morning. The Hay Harbor Country Club, which is located close by, has invited the fellows to use the club as much as they like without charge.

The officers present were: Colonel Phisterer, Major Putney, Major Ottesen, and Major Pendleton.

The laugh of the evening was produced when one of the speakers boasted of making fifteen hits on the range out of eight shots.
