Eighteen Men Now Compose the Silver Bay Delegation from M.I.T.

INDEXING INSTRUCTORS

1. To classify and classify the various types of instructors in the classroom.
2. To suggest some methods of attack in class discussions.

If we ask the average instructor, "Is he better or worse in your class than he was last year?", we get with almost this almost insignificant reply, "I did not really notice any improvement this year." He is probably right. The fact that he is not better may be due to the fact that he has merely gone on without really improving his methods. But if there are any possibilities of improvement, the teacher must be aware of them. A. W. D. suggests two possibilities:

A. W. D. proposes the following two: (1) When some instructor is seen to be trying his best, he must be encouraged. (2) When the instructor is seen to be trying his best, he must be encouraged.

A. W. D. suggests the following two: (1) When some instructor is seen to be trying his best, he must be encouraged. (2) When the instructor is seen to be trying his best, he must be encouraged.

A. W. D. suggests the following two: (1) When some instructor is seen to be trying his best, he must be encouraged. (2) When the instructor is seen to be trying his best, he must be encouraged.

A. W. D. suggests the following two: (1) When some instructor is seen to be trying his best, he must be encouraged. (2) When the instructor is seen to be trying his best, he must be encouraged.

A. W. D. suggests the following two: (1) When some instructor is seen to be trying his best, he must be encouraged. (2) When the instructor is seen to be trying his best, he must be encouraged.

A. W. D. suggests the following two: (1) When some instructor is seen to be trying his best, he must be encouraged. (2) When the instructor is seen to be trying his best, he must be encouraged.

A. W. D. suggests the following two: (1) When some instructor is seen to be trying his best, he must be encouraged. (2) When the instructor is seen to be trying his best, he must be encouraged.

A. W. D. suggests the following two: (1) When some instructor is seen to be trying his best, he must be encouraged. (2) When the instructor is seen to be trying his best, he must be encouraged.

A. W. D. suggests the following two: (1) When some instructor is seen to be trying his best, he must be encouraged. (2) When the instructor is seen to be trying his best, he must be encouraged.

A. W. D. suggests the following two: (1) When some instructor is seen to be trying his best, he must be encouraged. (2) When the instructor is seen to be trying his best, he must be encouraged.

A. W. D. suggests the following two: (1) When some instructor is seen to be trying his best, he must be encouraged. (2) When the instructor is seen to be trying his best, he must be encouraged.

A. W. D. suggests the following two: (1) When some instructor is seen to be trying his best, he must be encouraged. (2) When the instructor is seen to be trying his best, he must be encouraged.

A. W. D. suggests the following two: (1) When some instructor is seen to be trying his best, he must be encouraged. (2) When the instructor is seen to be trying his best, he must be encouraged.

A. W. D. suggests the following two: (1) When some instructor is seen to be trying his best, he must be encouraged. (2) When the instructor is seen to be trying his best, he must be encouraged.

A. W. D. suggests the following two: (1) When some instructor is seen to be trying his best, he must be encouraged. (2) When the instructor is seen to be trying his best, he must be encouraged.

A. W. D. suggests the following two: (1) When some instructor is seen to be trying his best, he must be encouraged. (2) When the instructor is seen to be trying his best, he must be encouraged.

A. W. D. suggests the following two: (1) When some instructor is seen to be trying his best, he must be encouraged. (2) When the instructor is seen to be trying his best, he must be encouraged.

A. W. D. suggests the following two: (1) When some instructor is seen to be trying his best, he must be encouraged. (2) When the instructor is seen to be trying his best, he must be encouraged.

A. W. D. suggests the following two: (1) When some instructor is seen to be trying his best, he must be encouraged. (2) When the instructor is seen to be trying his best, he must be encouraged.

A. W. D. suggests the following two: (1) When some instructor is seen to be trying his best, he must be encouraged. (2) When the instructor is seen to be trying his best, he must be encouraged.

A. W. D. suggests the following two: (1) When some instructor is seen to be trying his best, he must be encouraged. (2) When the instructor is seen to be trying his best, he must be encouraged.