OEDIPUS REX
By R. H. Coghill

In the John Marin-Harvey's production of the Greek tragedy of King Oedipus, the essence of the drama is conveyed with same force and severity as it is in the original. The production is one of the most refined and sustained in the season.

The Donnas Block Company players show off in particular well in the South Street. The company is called the "Magnificent Magnifico." The play is kept up sufficiently humorous and serious, and the acting of the players is excellent. The play was well received by the audience and up over the stage. The handling of the Chorus—all through the whole play—reveal the hand of a master of the scenic art. The use of the Chorus is not only an aid to the action but a means of expression and movement.

BERNARD SHAW PLAY
AT COPELEY THEATRE

Candide, one of Bernard Shaw's early plays, was admirably presented by the Jettew player, the Dainty Theatre. The scene of the play is a cell in the Don Juan's residence, North London. The rector, James Murnau, has shown a keen interest in the play, and has given it an excellent production. The acting of the players is excellent. The play was well received by the audience and up over the stage. The handling of the Chorus—all through the whole play—reveal the hand of a master of the scenic art.
