WILLIAM HAINES TO COACH CREWS STARTING JAN. 1

Famous Mentor To Remain at Harvard Until First of Year

ROWERS TO TRAIN ON MACHINES ALL WINTER

In an interview last night, William Haines, former rower and famous star, said that he would row for Harvard next season to prepare for the spring campaign. His return to the cockpit has been anticipated by many, as he has never been in a shell just as he has never been in a boat which will require skill and training.

Two Husky rowers have been added to the Harvard crew. These men will be brought up to standard with the rest of the crew.
