Fencers Return from Xmas Rest

After a good rest over Christmas the fencers are back in full force and are ready to compete at any moment. The team is now ready for the coming meet with Harvard on January 9th. Although the rest is informal and will have no real effect, Captain E. L. Blackwood hopes to get a good idea of what men show up in their new and improved suits and allow them to remain on the team. There will also be several fences ready just after the competition to remain on the team.

The team is having a meeting to study the new positions. Several new positions have been tried out on the team. All the fencers come out to this branch of sport in order to avoid the hated modern drill sets and to get a chance to work at something else.

The practice room is looking nice and all the men are ready and waiting to get into action.

Review of Frosb Football Season

The Yearlings Have Unlucky Season--Tie the Sophs on Field Day

Coach Miller Claims That the Frosb Had a Moral Win

Over the Sophs

October 2's annual meeting was held in the Hunter Gym in order to help the freshman class organize their football teams. Many talks were given by the juniors who were in charge of the various teams. Team Phone 297 sent to the Freshman Association both boys and girls with words of encouragement.

The first game of the season was expected in September, but the weather was too bad to hold the match. The game was rescheduled for October 2nd.

More Careful Second Half

This season promises a fine football season. The freshmen have been working very hard during the past month and are ready for any demand. The men have been looking forward to the season with great anticipation.
