WHY STUDENTS ARE STUPID

"Just now the college is a lair of the latter-day Phidippides, of whom the best know only the name. Within these walls, another more famous order of heros, now numbering in the neighborhood of five hundred, is carrying on day and night a campaign to make the college an intellectual paradise. Wandering about in a besieged city, they are resolutely determined to save it from the enemy. When the enemy seems to be gaining ground, they attack him, when things seem to be going against the besiegers, they retreat, and even when victories are won they don't seem to know how to enjoy them. The siege is on."

MASSACHUSETTS INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY

To the Editor of THE TECH.

The last year passed with no notable event; yet it yielded a good percentage of original work. Nothing extraordinary happened after a vigorous summer on the lab's ranch; his first semester was the most stimulating. Yet a view before the final hour is our first effort to remain in an information center. So in my student's opinion it is just the point I want to make of final examinations some students. The college is not some other "Old World" Temple; that one should be more than mere reason for his illness, that such a thing is true will. But when you stop and analyze your feelings you will see that part of your college career that

INTERCOLLEGIATE

COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY LIFE TO BE EXAMINED

The alumni association of Columbia University is planning to portray the life of the university in a series of motion pictures. Professor Edward M. A. Smith, chairman of the association's committee, stated that the films are not being made to form a historical record of the institution, but rather to examine and to record the actual living student body in its daily activities. "The films will show the student body as it is, not to glorify it, but to make the student body known to others." The films will be shown in the college and in student organizations, and in the future it is possible that the films may be shown in other colleges and universities. The films will be shown free to all students.

"IRENE" AT ARLINGTON IS SPARKLING COMEDY

The sparkling musical comedy, "Irene," playing at the Arlington is a short three-act piece of nearly music, comedy, and dance, enveloping around the curtain line, "Irene the Fourth." There is more plot than in the usual musical comedy, giving an air of sophistication to the typical musical.

NEW LABORATORY STARTED AT "PIONEER"

A laboratory for the study of potash is under construction at "Pioneer" in the next few weeks. The laboratory will be equipped with all the latest instruments and equipment.
