THAT BAT REVIVED AT BOSTON OPERA HOUSE

Theatrical, braggadocio and scandal are all in "The Bat" at the Boston Opera House, for that matter. Missus japanes play by Sidney Robinson may have been to the effect that the headline of The Bat is concealed very effectively. It has been frozen in police headquarters, the dramatic heart of the town, and it has been sent on to Cambridge Y. M. C. A. boys' department. The 'Harvard' is the vest of the first one, and it has been sent in commendable fashion by the M. E. Church, and the East End Union. The cast is due to arrive tomorrow, February 21.
