NEW DORMS DIFFERENT IN INTERIOR FINISH

The interior finish of the new dorms is different from that of the old dorms. The new dorms feature a modern design with sleek finishes, while the old dorms have a more traditional design. This change in interior finish is intended to reflect the preferences of the current student body. The new dorms also feature more natural light, with large windows and skylights.

COLLEGE WOMEN DO NOT READ ENOUGH SAYS DEAN

Dean Colvin of the University of Wisconsin recently stated that women, in general, read less than men. She cited several reasons for this, including the fact that women have fewer leisure hours and that they are more likely to read for practical purposes. However, she also noted that women are more likely to read for pleasure.

WELLESLEY GUESSERS STAGE NOVEL CONTEST

All of the entrants in the novel contest were applicants for the fall 1924 semester. The contest was sponsored by the Wellesley GueSSers, a student literary group. The contest was open to all students, and the judges were faculty members. The contest was designed to encourage creative writing.
