CIRCUS PROBABLY TO BE RUN DURING THE SECOND TERM

Institute Committee Decides to Appoint Committee to Make Plans

LAST HELD IN MARCH 1923

Activities, Fraternities, and Courses Will Arrange Special Shows

A 10th Century Circus is probably assured extra action taken last evening when the Institute decided to appoint a committee to make plans for the running of a special last week. While nothing was announced with regard to the details of the show, it was said that it was the opinion of the executive committee that the Circus probably would be used for most of the stunts, but objections by any of the committee members would stop the project if it was decided to be furthered. Also, a special discussion that took place in the executive committee meeting was reported by Glen C. Stimson, 25th, as follows: When the Institute committee that made the proposal of the Circus last week was formed, there was no executive committee that met to go into the possible advantages of the thing so that the decision of the committee could be against the advice of any member. There were five or six reports by members of the committee who were in favor of the idea, and three or four members of the committee who were against the idea. The report of the executive committee was that the Circus should be used, but not in the form that the committee had expected when the proposal was made.
