School of Astronomers Offers Proof
To Show That World Is Flat Plane

The all-pervading spirit of Christmas has quietly crept into the materialistic hearts of the students. The staid, starchy, and serious instructors have at last succumbed to the influence of Santa Claus. The halls have vied with one another in the distribution of the little packages known as "gifts". We all know how Walker Memorial toward the end of the year becomes a display of tinsel, tinsel, and more tinsel, and how every gleam and bright battery has helped to give the place a cheery look.

We need not go on a verbal PCP of the holidays, for the present season has brought a wave of"live" spirit to the campus. All of the campus is thronged with students who are eager to give a hand toward the Christmas cheer. The occasion is certainly laudable that an attempt was made in this examination, during the last week, to give hints of any kind. However, the gain in fairness is lost in effect.
