Tradition is the pride of the cultural subjects at Technology and is held in high esteem by its very nature, so an official observance is taking place on January 25, according to Professor Coultlard, chairman of the department, to mark the holiday and to recognize the efforts of the students who have been named as yet.

HEAD OF BALDWIN LOCOMOTIVE WORKS TALKS AT BANQUET

Dean Talbot and T. B. Booth Thank George Eastman and '93 For Donations

Three optimism as a basis for our development, he said. "We have made the greatest of all possible progress on our new earth, and, I believe, will continue to do so. But in the future, we must be guided by the principles of optimism and confidence of the past in order to succeed. In our case, we find that there is no reason to worry."

Dean Talbot and T. B. Booth, president of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, were the guests at a dinner given by "New York's Captain" and "New York's Captain's" at the Goodyear-Heinemann Building in New York City on Tuesday night. The program was sponsored by the Baldwin Locomotive Works, and its purpose was to honor the memory of the late Mr. Talbot, who was the first president of the company, and to continue his tradition of leadership.

President S. W. Strangeton has set out to make sure that the company is going to be a leader in the field of transportation, he said. "We have always been known as the leaders in the field of transportation, and we are going to continue to be so," he said. "We are going to make sure that we have the best men and the best equipment in the world, and that we are going to give our customers the best service possible."

When asked what he thought of the future of the company, he said, "I think that we are going to continue to be leaders in the field of transportation. We have always been known as the leaders in the field of transportation, and we are going to continue to be so." He said that he was confident that the company was going to continue to be successful, and that he was going to do whatever he could to make sure that it was.
