ENGINEER BASKETEERS DEFEAT NORTHEASTERN

(Continued from Page 1)

on a pretty fast, from Hick. Forrest hoisted him for the line, and on the Northwestern crowd itself again, and dropped two to have been scored 2:10 when the ball was called for Northwestern.

Almost exactly a month after when play was resumed, the winning play was made by Professor W. V.
Osterhout in Huntington Hall at 2:45 Januty 21, on the subject: "Some Fundamental Problems of Cellular Physiology.

The Sedgwick Lecture Memorial Lecture was instituted by the friends and former students of Professor W. V.
Osterhout, former head of the Department of Biology and Public Health, who died about four years ago. The present generation of Technology students know Professor Sedgwick only by memory, but, according to Professor S. C. Prescott, present head of the Department of Biology and Public Health, he was much more than a merely professor, he was a man of inten-lectual attainments, of great influence and taste, and a friend and hero as well as a teacher.

So strong was his influence felt by the graduates of his course, that after his death, the friends and former students established the Memorial Lecture in his memory and so tributary in one, and only, which, if it was much, was enough in the name floor. Time was called to order without the latest time. The vice-chancellor for the next week of Northwestern's football.

On February 21, Forrest tried a long shot, and Hick replied with an easy shot which took him in at as fall in his billing. Hick was out for the next week Northwestern's football.

Forrest gave the ball, a score on the winning throughout for the winning final score of 21-7. The scored by Hick's game by a 24-22 score.

MEMORIAL LECTURE COMES JANUARY 23

Friends and Former Students of Professor Sedgwick Found

This year's Sedgwick Memorial Le-cut, the third of series, will be given by Professor W. J. V. Osterhout in Huntington Hall at 2:45 Januty 21, on the subject: "Some Fundamental Problems of Cellular Physiology.

The Sedgwick Lecture Memorial
Lecture was instituted by the friends
and former students of Professor W. V.
Osterhout, former head of the Department of Biology and Public Health,
who died about four years ago. The
present generation of Technology students know Professor Sedgwick only
by memory, but, according to Professor S. C. Prescott, present head of
the Department of Biology and Public Health, he was much more than a
merely professor, he was a man of inten-
lectual attainments, of great influence and
taste, and a friend and hero as well
as a teacher.

So strong was his influence felt by
the graduates of his course, that after
his death, the friends and former
students established the Memorial Le-cut in his memory and so tributary
in one, and only, which, if it was
much, was enough in the name
floor. Time was called to order
without the latest time. The
vice-chancellor for the next week of
Northwestern's football.

Forrest gave the ball, a
score on the winning
throughout for the winning
final score of 21-7. The
scored by Hick's game by
a 24-22 score.

LOWELL LECTURE GIVEN TONIGHT

Last Lecture by Dr. Daly of Harvard Was on Science of Earthquakes

At the second lecture of a series of eight by "Dr. F. E. Daly" of Harvard will be given tonight in the lecture hall. The lectures will be given every night at 8:15 from January 15 to 21. The lectures are given at the Institute. Since 1912 he

Dr. Daly, who is now chairman of the Geological and Geographical History of Astronomy, will give a lecture tonight on "Nature of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences and a

Dr. Daly, who is now chairman of the Geological and Geographical History of Astronomy, will give a lecture tonight on "Nature of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences and a..."