The inaugural stories were of this category. In their attempts to present their students a taste of the world, and the knowledge about the world, it was not possible to do so without them being interested in the world. The world is full of people with different ideas, and they have different tastes. The more people have different tastes, the more they will be interested in the world. The world is full of people with different ideas, and they have different tastes. The more people have different tastes, the more they will be interested in the world.