FRESHMEN URGED TO ENTER SOME FORM OF SPORTS

New Men Are Addressed By The President, The Dean, and Prof. Spofford

"You should continue the proper relation with your instructors as well as with your companions. The advice of your seniors should be treated with the same consideration that you would treat the advice of a parent. You should be willing to work. The work will not be too burdensome for you, for the work is not for the purpose of earning a living, but for the purpose of acquiring knowledge and skill."

Tech Tradition Depends on The New Men Who Must

"In the spring and fall terms, the Institute is in full swing. The work is more concentrated, and the opportunities for learning are greater. The courses are more advanced, and the students are more capable of handling them. The students are more mature, and the faculty is more experienced. The students are more independent, and the faculty is more responsible. The students are more competitive, and the faculty is more competitive."
