The following communication was received too late for publication in THE TECH. We feel that it may be of interest to our readers.

To the Editor of THE TECH:

I have just finished reading an article in your issue of July 29th, page 8, and am in complete agreement with the views expressed therein. I wish to add that I have often wondered why a man, who, for instance, has just entered a fraternity, should not be able to enjoy the same benefits as a man who has been a member of a fraternity for two or three years. It seems to me that the only reason for this is that the new member is not as well acquainted with the fraternity as the old member.

Sincerely yours,

E. H. Harris '26

As We Like It

COLEY

"The Jefferson" which opened Monday night at the Colonial Theatre is a welcome effort of the efforts of the Players. Although the plot of this play is peculiar, the acting is uneven, the set work is lacking, and the music is not as good as it should be. Nevertheless, the play is a success, and the players are to be congratulated on their efforts.

The coffee served between the acts was a source of amazement to our guests. The weather was somewhat overcast, but the players were in high spirits. The players were all dressed in their best clothes and looked well. The coffee served between the acts was a source of amazement to our guests. The weather was somewhat overcast, but the players were in high spirits. The players were all dressed in their best clothes and looked well.

We expect, however, that the play will be of more interest to those who are familiar with the Players and their work. It is hoped that the players may continue their efforts and that they may soon become more proficient in their work.

It is therefore to be hoped that the players may continue their efforts and that they may soon become more proficient in their work.
