IMPROVING EDUCATION

In December a conference is to be held at Wesleyan University for the purpose of discussing new methods of teaching and examining the students. The conference and its results should be of interest to the eastern colleges, for Dr. Middlejohn, ex-president of Amherst, and Dr. James H. Robinson, professor at Columbia, have interest to the eastern colleges, for Dr. Meiklejohn, ex-president of Wesleyan University, does not believe that parleys will accomplish more than the ones held in the past.

Russian Leader of Symphony Orchestra

Serge Koussevitzky

Since every series of concerts by the Boston Symphony Orchestra conducted by Koussevitzky is subscribed to by the Council of Christian Associations, it is obvious that the new series will be well subscribed to. Koussevitzky was first famous in Europe as a virtuoso of the double bass, and his knowledge of the instrument has influenced his work. In America he has been a great pioneer in the development of Symphony music, and his influence is now being felt throughout the world.

Dr. Dwight Comes To the E. E. Dept.

From Canada Co.

Dr. Dwight has come to Canada to be the new head of the English Department of McGill University, where he will be in charge of the English Department. This appointment is due to the fact that Dwight has been very successful in his work at Wesleyan University, and his knowledge of the English language and literature has been of great value to the students there.

SOMNAMBULISTIC THOUGHTS

A Washington insurance company is contemplating the realization of its rates to include, as additional data, the hours, the amount of sleep, the diet, the exercises, and the diseases of its customers. This plan is for discussion the eternal, and nevertheless vital question of the proper amount of sleep, the true cure of insomnia, the use of insurance, and the proper treatment of diseases.

The average Texan man in taking account of the above plan would doubtless be impressed with these facts: First, that he would never be foolish enough to neglect his health. Second, that he would not take into account his own desire to sleep. Third, that he would not be content with the comfort of his bed. For these reasons, he would be impressed with the necessity of taking some action to improve his health.

Thus both the adult and the late rise of the sun can be found in autho- rity. It is said that the average adult man gets up before sunrise, and, as an added example, history tells us that Napoleon only slept for four hours each day, and, as an added example, history tells us that Napoleon only slept for four hours each day.

Dr. Dwight comes to be the new head of the English Department of McGill University, where he will be in charge of the English Department. This appointment is due to the fact that Dwight has been very successful in his work at Wesleyan University, and his knowledge of the English language and literature has been of great value to the students there.

The Shams of "Modern Literature"

The trend of our modern novels and newer periodicals is readily perceived to the eye of the reader. Many of them are mere refractions of the great works of the past, and the result is that we are being drowned in a flood of mediocrity. The only solution is to return to the classics, and to learn from them what is true and what is false.
