THE TECH

AN ADVANCE NOTICE TO THE UNDERTAKER

To the Purveyors of the Uprising of the Spirit of Modernism: We beg to inform you that a celebration of the marriage of friendship, that novel in the swiftly growing genre of social cliques, now is to have a terminal. You are therefore hereby officially notified that we intend to have our exclusive friendship represented in an endearing manner, and that we will not be present in our usual form.

It is our intention to end our friendship in a more picturesque manner, and that we will not be present in our usual form. In order that our friends may be prepared for this event, we begs to inform them that our friendship will be represented in a manner more appropriate to the occasion. We shall be present, in the form of a statue, with a wreath of flowers upon our head. We shall be placed upon a pedestal in the center of the room, with a bronze tablet upon our side, wherein is inscribed the name of our friend and our address. We shall be dressed in the finest robes of the age, and shall be accompanied by a group of music, singing the praises of our friendship.

It is our intention to make our departure from this world in a manner more befitting our status as friends. We shall be carried upon a bier, surrounded by a group of our friends, who shall sing the dirge of our friendship. We shall be carried to our last resting place, where we shall be laid to rest in a vault, with a stone bearing the name of our friend and our address.

We beg to inform you that we shall not be present in our usual form. We shall be absent, and that we will not be present in our usual form. We beg to inform you that we shall not be present in our usual form. We shall be present, in the form of a statue, with a wreath of flowers upon our head.

We beg to inform you that we shall not be present in our usual form. We shall be present, in the form of a statue, with a wreath of flowers upon our head. We shall be placed upon a pedestal in the center of the room, with a bronze tablet upon our side, wherein is inscribed the name of our friend and our address. We shall be dressed in the finest robes of the age, and shall be accompanied by a group of music, singing the praises of our friendship.

We beg to inform you that we shall not be present in our usual form. We shall be absent, and that we will not be present in our usual form. We beg to inform you that we shall not be present in our usual form. We shall be present, in the form of a statue, with a wreath of flowers upon our head.

THE OPEN FORUM

SOME REQUIREMENTS FOR A GOOD FIELD DAY

ALTHOUGH Field Day is primarily an activity of the freshman and Sophomore classes, most of its benefits are lost to all unless the athletic contact is spread over the full support of the upper two classes. Those who suggested Field Day as an opportunity to raise the standards and standards of all those students to whom higher education is to be extended must necessarily exert a more sober and restraining influence, but the upperclassmen, attend the Field Day, are responsible for the standards of all types. Spend a little more than the minimum time on English; it is all right as far as it goes, but the upperclassmen must have the best scientific education possible, together with a deep and abiding interest in the welfare of Technology.

The increased severity of the examinations, however, has not been sufficiently difficult. Moreover, the chaotic systems of rushings and rushings rules have been entered into by the officials of the A.A. of Technology. It shall be a criminal offense to enter into the rushings agreements. It is therefore fitting and proper to punish the rushings program is impossible of enactment. The rushings program is impossible of enactment. The rushings program is impossible of enactment. The rushings program is impossible of enactment.

The Interfraternity Conference is in a state of disaffection because it has been plunged into a spiritual rift. This rift is caused by the Interfraternity Conference's separation from the athletic and social circles of the upperclassmen. The Interfraternity Conference's separation from the athletic and social circles of the upperclassmen is caused by the Interfraternity Conference's separation from the athletic and social circles of the upperclassmen.

The Interfraternity Conference's separation from the athletic and social circles of the upperclassmen is caused by the Interfraternity Conference's separation from the athletic and social circles of the upperclassmen. The Interfraternity Conference's separation from the athletic and social circles of the upperclassmen is caused by the Interfraternity Conference's separation from the athletic and social circles of the upperclassmen.

The Interfraternity Conference's separation from the athletic and social circles of the upperclassmen is caused by the Interfraternity Conference's separation from the athletic and social circles of the upperclassmen. The Interfraternity Conference's separation from the athletic and social circles of the upperclassmen is caused by the Interfraternity Conference's separation from the athletic and social circles of the upperclassmen.

The Interfraternity Conference's separation from the athletic and social circles of the upperclassmen is caused by the Interfraternity Conference's separation from the athletic and social circles of the upperclassmen. The Interfraternity Conference's separation from the athletic and social circles of the upperclassmen is caused by the Interfraternity Conference's separation from the athletic and social circles of the upperclassmen.