A DISCUSSION ON BOOKS

By Fred. B. A. Bogen

"Of the making books there is no end ..." I wonder what old Solomon would have said if he were to drop in to the Old Corner of Leslie's of a busy Christmas afternoon. And I wonder whether he would have bought a book review supplement of this whole Solomon with his few laborious, and expensive rolls of papyrus or parchment, confronted with the thousands of volumes in his library. And much study is a weariness unto the soul. There again we have it all over Solomon. Never mind about the one-eyed look to at, upon the eyes of better written, a delight to look at and handle and skin through. And so instead of one distraction, bosoms—dear to the True Meaning French style, this book may cause the same un- the great number of people who are staying in their bookishness. The author is discussing a subject in a manner to which an American literary circle may cause considerable thought on the part of those who read from the book, or (at least) we'll read it. In observing the proceedings to which our forefathers so strongly adhered.

Religion of Undergraduates

The religion of undergraduates is a tri- or villain and villainess. Each cannot assign the roles of hero, hero-

Miscegenation

A Good Thought

Europe Next Summer

Wash Wit Bold Amours

White Star Line

Men say: “You can’t equal Williams”

If the labor, Williams Shaving Cream balms

Special Book

Supplement

Frank Swinerton Exams Love and Life

The Elder Sister, by Frank Swinerton.

Best Sellers

(Compiled from several Sources)

Old Increasing Purpose, by A. S. M. Beall-Hunt.

Widow, by Beall-Turkington.
The Professor’s House, by Will Ollie.
The Silent Sister, by Frank Swinerton.
Thunder on the Left, by Christopher Grayson.
Wild Gone, by Margaret Orpen.
Color Island, by Joseph C. Langdon.
Glorious Apollo, by B. Ramsung.
Form of Man with Red Hair, by Whitelock.

Rubin and Tyn FFY, by Lester Jordan Wells. New York: Free & Winks. $1.50.

Miscidation

Rubin and Tyn FFY, by Lester Jordan Wells. New York: Free & Winks. $1.50.

Books

Rubin and Tyn FFY, by Lester Jordan Wells. New York: Free & Winks. $1.50.