WHERE IS THE BEAVER?

TWO years ago at this time Technology was throbbing with life and new spirit. Everyone was thinking not in individuals, but as a member of one of the four classes. It was during this period of the old school spirit that the class of 1924 had the privilege of choosing the class mascot which was manifested than at any time since the "good old days on Boylston Street." The echoes of bustling life at the Institute were no more evident than at any other time since the "good old days on Boylston Street."
