GLIMPSES OF THE 1926 CIRCUS

Above: Leaping Cars, now celebrated, served as the photographer. One of the heroes of the 1926 circus weighted down by novices.

Below: Conclusion of the 1926 Parade. These beasts are only a few of the galaxy expected this year. In oval: Mal Swerzy '29, one of the beauties of last year's big top.

Above: A Barker caught with the goods. The law is strong enough, possibly they hope to divide the loot.

Left: Two more beauties (771 of 1926, or are they advertising hockey? Anyway they aptly represent the swanky set.

GIGANTIC CELEBRATION TO BEGIN WITH PARADE

ALL FOOLS' DAY SPIRIT WILL DOMINATE 3000 AT ANNUAL FESTIVAL

"Are you ready? Let's go!" Tonight is circus night in Technology. With 3000 undergraduates and alumni ready to ring in the Third Annual Undergraduate Circus in a magnificent celebration today in the Cambridge Armory, all activity is directed toward making the festival a glorified Technology get-together.

A circus parade which will rival that of Broadway and other annual events will make the scene. There will be some mice. Thus co-eds will be forced to disclose themselves unwittingly.

Glenwood Serenade will open the big festivities today at 12:45 o'clock. The big expositions of mirth look like small things when compared to the mammoth showing at the armory.

300 PLEDGE CARDS OUT IN ENDOWMENT

Senior Insurance Increased by Use of Two Special Plans

Up to the present time pledge cards have been placed in the hands of over 200 Seniors. About 175 of these men have signed up and 150 have been ex-

Secured Recognition by The M. I. T. A. A.

Mass News Service

President-Elect E. L. Goodrich will head T. C. A. Organization

JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

John W. Chamberlain '28

JOHN CHAMBERLAIN WILL HEAD T. C. A.

John W. Chamberlain '28 was elected president of the Technology Christian Association for a year beginning April 15 at the annual meeting held yesterday afternoon. At the same time, Harlan R. Jessup '28 was elected vice-president and Morris H. Klemmer '28 treasurer, for the same term.

Chamberlain prepared at Phillips Exeter Academy and entered as a freshman in 1925 (Continued on Page 4)

Tech Show Begins Sale Of Tickets on Monday Morning

"Cosh and Carry" Is Motto of This Year's Campaign

At Lobby Booth

"Cosh and Carry" will be the slogan of Tech Show 1927, when the Tech Show begins its 42nd opening at 12:45 on Monday morning.

Tickets will be sold at the Lobby Booth on main floor of the Memorial, and at the bag office, which will be open from 11 a.m. to 12:45 o'clock. After passing in review before Ovella B. Daniels '27, former Toastmaster, and Fred Hartwell who will be on the reviewing stand on the steps of Building B, the parade will turn into the Memorial Garden where the prices for the tickets will be announced.

CALENDAR

Friday, April 1
1:30-2:30 - The Official Undergraduate News Organ of M. L. T. B. - "Circus" - PA 451

ALL OUT FOR CIRCUS PARADE AT 12:45

WELCOME, 1927 CIRCUS!