By tutorial conferences between instructor and student, help will be held during these gettogethers the instructor it is so thrown that the student has done, begun new growing and go over written work. According to Professor Roberts, this tutorial system is being used at Harvard and some college would take a great deal of time and would prove costly if applied to M. T. T. permanently.

The second method, planned to be tried along with A. offer, would have group meetings of the Instructor and the ten men in a week to be arranged in accordance to the schedule. This hour will include discussion of various topics, a presentation of papers, reports, separate assignments, most of his own planned and interesting conclusions, and of the weekly group meetings. And the total work from each man will equal if not exceed the required amount of the E22 Option.

This innovation of the English school which has been used at Chem- bride and Oxford University for centuries is aimed especially at those who are faced with theories that require a Ph.D. personal bent. Admission to the group will be based on the student's ability to analyze what the interests are and what portion of his work he wishes to read and discuss.

Rent A Car for the PROM

This introduces to University students a new way of getting around that has not met with instant favor because of its convenience and economy.

You can now rent a fine private automobile that you drive yourself—where you like—in fact use exactly as you would a car of your own.

Whether you're going for a trip of a few miles, a weekend trip or need a car for the evening occasion—you'll find this service mighty convenient.

You come to our station—select the car you want and you're off. It takes about two minutes. No red tape—no annoying questions.

The only requirement is that you be qualified and competent to drive a car. That is all.

The cost is much lower than you would expect. Next time you want to go somewhere—we invite you to go in one of our cars.

Ride in Groups and Split the Cost

It costs no more for five to ride in one of our cars. Plan a trip with three or four others—divide the bill—and the cost to each is so small you'll never miss it.
