CONSTITUTIONS OF CLUBS DEMANDED

Face Exclusion Unless Copies Are Turned in Before May 19 to Institute Committee

At the last meeting of the Institute Committee a report was made, seconded and passed that all undergraduate clubs and societies whose charters are not turned in by May 19 will on that date lose their charters. This action follows a list of such clubs and societies which is still out. Honorary members include: Mees, Weepers, Styles, Scott, Steele, Search Freethinkers, Friends and Friends, Triangul, Y.t., Engineers and Scientists, and the Old Comrades. The constitution of each club and society should be turned in to President Samuel W. Stratton by May 19.

TIME FOR GREAT GAME DRAWS NEAR

Will Change Hangar

Stable in the Hangar! Such an idea can hardly be imagined, but since the arrival of a new hangar for the prospectively great polo team, the animal is merely a wood frame. The new hangar will be equipped with a saddle. The formers may well be made of wood and the horse's back may be covered with blankets. The animal will have to be hobbled to prevent it from running away.

"Let Mexico Alone" Leading Article in Review

Professor Warns U. S. of Dire Consequences if Recognition Is Withdrawn

"Let Mexico Alone" is the advice of William E. Jones, '95, Professor of Structural Geology, in a Dakin article in the May issue of the Tech News. The Editor's Review which will not be out until May 1 is the only one to treat of the Mexican situation. The same is true of the United States withdrawal recently recommended by the president of Smith College, Gordon Allen, who is an "old man" and a student of Latin American politics. Professor Jones "there can be no difticulties for the Mexican states and for our students, except the protection of our rights. Has any one thought of the loss of our borders?" His advice is that the United States has no need of Mexico and that it is quite capable of maintaining its own rights. The Editor's Review is that the United States has been too weak and that the protection of its rights has been too easy.
