The Musical Clubs

The musical talent of M. I. T. is gathered in the organization known as the Musical Clubs. It is a very wide-spread organization, in a great many ways, some of which are the result of an effort to maintain a musical outlet for musical talent and may have only a liking for music but no equipment are required to call. The Instrumental Club, started only last year, needs men who can play any kind of instrument, while the chance

C. E. T. and his staff do the work throughout the book, as well as the students who are running the book. The Features editor and his staff of photographers must be present on the events of all sorts, as well as the pictures of the students themselves. The features editor will also do the work of the school on a special basis, and all the pictures of the students that are picked up are sent to the school. The Features editor will also be responsible for the school's annual yearbook, to which all the pictures of the students are sent.
