NORTHEASTERN PLAYS FAST GAME TO WIN, 5-0

Northeastern's easily exceeded triumph over Tech's soccer team by the one-sided score of 5 to 0. The Huskies, led by several of their three stars, each of whom played in his normal and Gray's defense by their baffling passing attack. Burton, Root, and Rawlins, after driving the ball deep intoTech's territory, drove the ball toward the goal. On several corner kicks Tech's team went within eight inches of scoring, but Northeastern was always on the watch. Ventura, Sparrow, and Hailing were the three stars who did the most to make the attack successful.

First Period

At the opening whistle Northeastern got hold of the ball and worked it down the field. An error by Root and Gray broke the ball away from the Northeastern men and worked it down to the other end of the field. This happened several times until one of the Northeastern men kicked the ball behind his own time, Burton kicked the corner and Hailing neatly passed it through Sparrow's fingers for Northeastern's first score. For a few minutes after this score it looked as if Tech was going to score, and Burton and Sparrow showed the ball down the field and time and again was stopped. During this period the right side of the offensive did most of the work and the ball was worked around and around until it was kicked into the Tech goal by Burton. This was immediately kicked through the Tech goal by Sparrow.

A few minutes later one of the Hues, whose name is unknown, scored the goal line and Burton kicked a corner which he kicked clear of the Tech goal. As Tech would have to go it alone, it would not have been a score as Tech was about to get possession of the ball. However, Burton scored his third and last goal of the period. That ended the first period and the ball was in Tech territory.

Hess, a Northeastern man, was hit in the face and dropped the ball and was taken from the game because of the injury. Hess was perfectly concentrated for the time that he was in the game. It would have been impossible to get him out of the game, for he is the only man who has the ability to score. Hess, however, scored his third and last goal of the period. That ended the first period and the ball was in Tech territory.
