Negros Found to Be Victims of Race Discrimination at Kansas University

Keep Colored Students From Entering Into Life of College

Of approximately 4,500 students at the University of Kansas, 12 Negroes are registered. Yet the descendants of "Bleeding Kansas" maintain rigid restrictions that prevent Negro students from entering extensively into college life.

Race segregation at Kansas has been brought to the attention of the Kansas official by Ira Arbutte Man, editor of the official publication.

The investigation grew out of a study made by the author of a series of studies of Negro enrollment and progress at Kansas University and other institutions.

Negroes are not permitted to sit with the white students in the University buildings. They are expected to keep the so few colored students segregated.

Negroes are segregated. Any attempt made by Negroes to observe the law was met with a little personal altercation followed by a bar from athletics all last year as a result. The Smith high point man on this year's track.

The investigation of the University of Kansas essentially the situation described in the original complaint. She found a bright side, too, she said, that seemingly the fact that the administration holds no brief against the colored students. The principal complaint was, according to one Negro, that they must be permitted to take their last two years of college work without the approval of the Chancellor or anyone else.

The principal objection was found, however, where "the line between the departments and the control becomes indistinguishable." The entrance requirement for any Negro to enter was a 23 on the Scholastic Aptitude Test, 400 in any 400 admissions, yet the Negroes are expected to keep the results of its activities. The University, the Kansas City Valley ruling, but Mrs. Holmsin, who was elected by the colored students at the University of Kansas, visited the University of Illinois. The number at Chapel has increased without the approval of the dean.

When the original complaint was made, he said, "no Negro may be rushed by a fraternity without the approval of the dean. The number at Chapel has increased without the approval of the dean. The number at Chapel has increased without the approval of the dean."

The University of Illinois no student must be rushed by a fraternity without the approval of the dean.
