Opening Game in Hangar

Opening their season tomorrow night, the Engineer basketball team will meet the New Bedford textile five in the Hangar gym at eight o'clock. Coach Henry F. McCarthy, who is in charge of twenty-five basketball teams, has been drilling a squad of some twenty-two candidates during the past six weeks. The program of the season includes three veterans from last year's team with a fourth possibility. Norman C. Estes '28 is captain of the team, and Willie Hunter, a star last season, will be in trim for tomorrow's match.

OUTFITTERS

and Edward Bangs '21, are going to the Ceylon Islands to study the native bird life. Because of the fact that the islands lie out of the usual scientific area, an agreement had to be made with the United Fruit Co. to have three of their men on this tour. The men will be there only two months, but it is thought that they will be in trim for tomorrow's matches.

Johnny Barkey returns to the squash court and should prove a large factor in the success of the Engineers. He did not lose a match last year but in 1925 won the championship of the weight class. Although he did not work out with the Beavers last year he did come to the New England Intercollegiates with a good game and won.
