Monday, December 12, 1927

THE TECH

THE TECH BOOK LIST

A DOG STORY

ONEMORE THE LEONAG IS OUT STAR GUTING AT HIS ADOLENT FASO AND AS usual, when the major event of the day is over, the lesse of the box is up. The air is filled with the noise of the dogs, and the bell boys are calling for orders. The crowd is eager to see the next act, and the excitement is mounting.

The scene is set in a small town, where the dog, Speck, is the center of attention. The town is small, and the people are friendly. Speck is loved by all, and the central character in the story. The plot thickens as the dog is taken on a journey, and the reader is left to wonder what will happen next.

In the end, Speck returns home, and the people of the town are overjoyed. The story ends with a picture of Speck and his friends, and the reader is left with a sense of warmth and happiness.

THE TECH

THE TECH"