Dr. Charles G. Abbott '94 Appointed Secretary of Smithsonian Institution

Has Invested Instruments Used In Measurement of Solar Energy

By his recent appointment to the secretariat of the Smithsonian Institution, Dr. Charles G. Abbott, '94, has been placed in the highest position that can be conferred upon him, since the Smithsonian Institution is the highest honor that can be bestowed upon an American scientist. Dr. Abbott was the first American to be appointed to the position of Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution. He is the second American to be appointed to the position, after Dr. James A. Garfield, who was appointed Secretary in 1878.

Automatic Cable Reeler Invented By Institute Man

Machine Tests For Insulation During Process of Manufacture

Mr. James L. Ratcliffe, Jr., of the Electrical Engineering Department of the Institute, has invented a new automatic cable reeler. The reeler is used to reel up cable during the process of manufacture. It has a high tension test at the same time, and in one case it has been successfully used in the manufacture of a new type of cable.

The reeler has been patented and is being manufactured by the General Electric Company. It is said to be a valuable invention for the cable industry.

Extension Course In Aeronautics Begins at Institute

"Fundamental Theory and Practice of Aeronautics" will be the subject of an extension course which will begin on the first of May. The course will be given in the afternoon.

Dr. H. C. Dickinson of the Bureau of Standards will speak this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. He will discuss the problem of aeronautics in connection with the progress of the United States Navy.

Week 12

Posters in this form were displayed yesterday at the Junior Prom of the Class of 1927. All a set of junior posters went up at once, and the posters were hung in the central men's room and the women's room. The posters were announced by the Junior Council.

Once again the May Day Dining Rooms at the Brown Dining Halls were sold out. Many Pans Halls have been chosen for the dining halls, and the majority of the guests have been seated in the Pans Halls. The rooms were not filled to capacity, however, as there were many guests who were unable to find a place.

As usual, the Junior Council will be present at the Junior Prom, and the posters will be allowed to remain up for several days after the prom.
