Springfield College, a new member of the New England Intercollegiate Swimming Association, opened the annual championship on Saturday without much difficulty with a total of 35 points. Brown was second with 34 points, and Wesleyan and Technology were tied for fourth with 9 points each. Amherst, the only other contender, failed to score a point.

Laurence G. Plank, sophomore engineer, was the meet's star. After winning the 140-yard individual medley, he went on to win the 150-yard backstroke. He shattered standing records in both events. Luey of Technology was second in the 150-yard backstroke with a time of 1 minute, 54 seconds. This was the fastest time of the season. Luey was followed by Plank and Merchant, both of Brown. Towards the end of the race, Luey extended his lead and was able to pass Plank from behind and turn around the field and then crossed the finish line three seconds ahead of the field.
