All things come to pass. The much promised inauguration of the new dormitories was officially made last Friday morning. The boys at last got to live in the spacious new quarters. Like all new things they are expected to allow for a certain amount of dissatisfaction. The almost negligible gesture towards the completion of the new dormitories will be constant at all of the untidy rooms, the new dormitories are constantly in a state of flux. The boys are still starting a new job on the bugs; the task of cleaning them.

The dormitories are built on the same plan as the old dormitories. They are double rooms, but the single rooms are not in pairs with a door between them. Instead two rooms come in pairs with a door between them. The bunks are not aligned to facilitate the moving of the students at night. The whole project is to be completed in the near future.

The result of the superior building project now in progress is expected to add to the beauty of the campus in the years to come. The dormitories are currently under construction but will be ready for occupancy by the end of the month. It is expected that all the units will be ready for summer occupancy. This will be a great improvement over the present arrangements, where the students have to move in and out of the dormitories on a regular basis.

The structure of the new dormitories is already available. All things come to pass. The much promised inauguration of the new dormitories was officially made last Friday morning.
