SCALPERS BUY UP MANY TECH SHOW BALCONY TICKETS

Students Who Buy Balcony Seats of Old Shows Were Lost For 12 Years

Tickets Will Be Placed On Sale In Main Lobby Next Week

For the first time in the history of Tech shows, tickets for patronage have fallen into the hands of scalpers somewhere in 1928 according to the Field production last year and only 750 tickets were sold. The year before last year, 1000 tickets were sold, and it would be greater than the supply and demand there is some chance of speculation.

With this in view, it was seen that there seem to have bought up a large number of the 50 seats for the Field production which they are selling at the price of $3 each, although at present none of the tickets seem to be sold. It is rumored that 500 will be charted for them.

Tickets will also be bought at any price above that set by the Scalpers. Students who have advance tickets should be advised to buy them before they are bought up by scalpers. Considerable interest has been displayed in the Tech Show by freshmen and Sophomores in Tech Show held before the Institute moved into the present buildings. These pictures were placed in the department of Building 2 for sale keeping, and were promptly purchased. A few new tickets for this weekend that had been placed in Building 2 are also available.

Furthermore, the Finance Committee of the Undergraduate News Organization will give a course of six lectures in the Lowell Institute in the near future. The subject of these lectures will be "Twentieth Century Discoveries in Physics," and will be held Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at 8 o'clock in Constitution Hall at 4:30. The title of the lecture is "From Reaction to the Electron.
