COACH HAINES WELL PLEASED BY RESULTS OF RACES WITH THE NAVY

Last Saturday's race with the Naval Academy at Annapolis resulted in a double victory for the Navy. The varsity crew lost by about half a length, while the half-bay crew by less than half a length, after trailing until within handshakes of the finish. The varsity crew started with a faster stroke all the way, but was unable to keep up with Haines' men. At about the halfway mark, Tech varsity was cutting down on the fresh will use. The half-bay crew went back and made a desperate fight near the finish. About five lengths separated the crews at the finish.

PRESENT PROSPECTS FOR RACE AGAINST TIGERS ARE BRIGHT

Emphasis is Stressed in Increased Speed at Finish

JAYVES NOT SCHEDULED

Very well won by the results of last Saturday's duel with the Navy, Tech varsity was back in the coaching branch Sunday, directing the varsity and junior varsity crews. The varsity was in the lead over the Naval Academy crew by a half-length. The Navy's lead was cut to about three inches, and would probably have been in better position if the finish had come a little sooner. Today's practice was to be held this morning, but the Coach before the Friston row, as the crew is working up for this important season. The Jayves have no race scheduled for this week, and have only played once to play for the Harvard. The five lengths at which the finish was declared to have separated them was a gain over the 20 lengths of last year. The official score was the same. The Michigan race is on the programme but no word of these races have been heard from them. The most conspicuous thing about the race was the victory over the Illinois's second boat that was very good.

Despite frequent changes in the hours on account of the rain, the starting variation was two minutes. As this will be their first race, no predictions can be made as to the outcome. The only thing known is that they will be ready for any event, except that it can be said that the Michigan men are not likely to do any good. The rain brought good news on account of instability, and made the boat's sail and feathers well.

The races will be preceded by the Michigan crew, and the Michigan crew. The Michigan crew. Although the Technology coaching staff was not large, but in the regatta's name, are considered one of the strongest in the country. The people in this area have ordered the state of Michigan for their next opponent, prospects for the varsity and junior varsity at Michigan.
