ADVANCED COURSE IN METEOROLOGY IS INAUGURATED

Dr. Carl-Gustaf Arvid Rossby, A Work in Charge

IS NEW IDEA IN U. S.

Specialized training in weather forecasting for aviation will be offered for the first time in the United States in a new course in meteorology to be given by Techni-

Dr. Carl-Gustaf Arvid Rossby, a graduate of Stockholm University, has announced that he is laying the groundwork in meteorological research in Europe and this country.

Dr. Rossby is a native of Sweden, and has been associated with the various research stations in Sweden and abroad. He has taken an active part in the future courses in meteorology will be offered.

Dr. Rossby is now equipping a special laboratory for his work in meteorological research in the United States Weather Bureau.

Weather Reports Asked

Requests have been made of the current reports for the new courses in the United States Weather Bureau, with which the new courses in meteorology will be connected.

Dr. Rossby is now preparing a special committee of meteorological lecturers and research.

CHANGES AT M.I.T.

A hundred new trees planted in various parts of the campus, including the Great Court. They comprise pine trees of the Scotch Pine variety. The trees were purchased from the Virginia Pine Co.

The cost of planting the trees represents only one stage in the ultimate development of the campus, and it is expected that the knowledge of meteorology in the application to actual conditions.

The new course, first of its kind in this country, will be given by Dr. Carl-Gustaf Arvid Rossby, an associate professor in the Harvard University, and chairman of the Board of Commissioners of the University of Cambridge.

The new course will be conducted in the following manner:

The course will be held on Wednesdays and Fridays, from 2 to 4 p.m., in the Great Court. They will continue through the rest of the academic year.

Dr. Rossby is now preparing a special committee for the purpose of preparing the necessary groundwork for the new courses in meteorology.

The course will be conducted in the following manner:

The course will be held on Wednesdays and Fridays, from 2 to 4 p.m., in the Great Court. They will continue through the rest of the academic year.

The new course, first of its kind in this country, will be given by Dr. Carl-Gustaf Arvid Rossby, an associate professor in the Harvard University, and chairman of the Board of Commissioners of the University of Cambridge.

The new course will be conducted in the following manner:

The course will be held on Wednesdays and Fridays, from 2 to 4 p.m., in the Great Court. They will continue through the rest of the academic year.

The new course, first of its kind in this country, will be given by Dr. Carl-Gustaf Arvid Rossby, an associate professor in the Harvard University, and chairman of the Board of Commissioners of the University of Cambridge.

The new course will be conducted in the following manner:

The course will be held on Wednesdays and Fridays, from 2 to 4 p.m., in the Great Court. They will continue through the rest of the academic year.

The new course, first of its kind in this country, will be given by Dr. Carl-Gustaf Arvid Rossby, an associate professor in the Harvard University, and chairman of the Board of Commissioners of the University of Cambridge.

The new course will be conducted in the following manner:

The course will be held on Wednesdays and Fridays, from 2 to 4 p.m., in the Great Court. They will continue through the rest of the academic year.

The new course, first of its kind in this country, will be given by Dr. Carl-Gustaf Arvid Rossby, an associate professor in the Harvard University, and chairman of the Board of Commissioners of the University of Cambridge.

The new course will be conducted in the following manner:

The course will be held on Wednesdays and Fridays, from 2 to 4 p.m., in the Great Court. They will continue through the rest of the academic year.

The new course, first of its kind in this country, will be given by Dr. Carl-Gustaf Arvid Rossby, an associate professor in the Harvard University, and chairman of the Board of Commissioners of the University of Cambridge.

The new course will be conducted in the following manner:

The course will be held on Wednesdays and Fridays, from 2 to 4 p.m., in the Great Court. They will continue through the rest of the academic year.

The new course, first of its kind in this country, will be given by Dr. Carl-Gustaf Arvid Rossby, an associate professor in the Harvard University, and chairman of the Board of Commissioners of the University of Cambridge.

The new course will be conducted in the following manner:

The course will be held on Wednesdays and Fridays, from 2 to 4 p.m., in the Great Court. They will continue through the rest of the academic year.

The new course, first of its kind in this country, will be given by Dr. Carl-Gustaf Arvid Rossby, an associate professor in the Harvard University, and chairman of the Board of Commissioners of the University of Cambridge.

The new course will be conducted in the following manner:

The course will be held on Wednesdays and Fridays, from 2 to 4 p.m., in the Great Court. They will continue through the rest of the academic year.

The new course, first of its kind in this country, will be given by Dr. Carl-Gustaf Arvid Rossby, an associate professor in the Harvard University, and chairman of the Board of Commissioners of the University of Cambridge.

The new course will be conducted in the following manner:

The course will be held on Wednesdays and Fridays, from 2 to 4 p.m., in the Great Court. They will continue through the rest of the academic year.

The new course, first of its kind in this country, will be given by Dr. Carl-Gustaf Arvid Rossby, an associate professor in the Harvard University, and chairman of the Board of Commissioners of the University of Cambridge.

The new course will be conducted in the following manner:

The course will be held on Wednesdays and Fridays, from 2 to 4 p.m., in the Great Court. They will continue through the rest of the academic year.

The new course, first of its kind in this country, will be given by Dr. Carl-Gustaf Arvid Rossby, an associate professor in the Harvard University, and chairman of the Board of Commissioners of the University of Cambridge.

The new course will be conducted in the following manner:

The course will be held on Wednesdays and Fridays, from 2 to 4 p.m., in the Great Court. They will continue through the rest of the academic year.

The new course, first of its kind in this country, will be given by Dr. Carl-Gustaf Arvid Rossby, an associate professor in the Harvard University, and chairman of the Board of Commissioners of the University of Cambridge.

The new course will be conducted in the following manner:

The course will be held on Wednesdays and Fridays, from 2 to 4 p.m., in the Great Court. They will continue through the rest of the academic year.

The new course, first of its kind in this country, will be given by Dr. Carl-Gustaf Arvid Rossby, an associate professor in the Harvard University, and chairma