SOMETHING GOOD

"Competitions may mean a lot of work; they may cause a lot of worry, but if you can walk away feeling that your work was very fine and that you have filled your quota, then it is not such a bad thing after all." —The Dartmouth.

It is that "something good" in competitions which men will come to congratulate if they answer the call of THE TECH for candidates, and appear as the men meeting sponsored by the publication this afternoon. And they will be convinced of the truth of the statement that they have obtained that initial interest which is long enough to make something of their amateur journalism.

We have given the conception of the quotation—that "nothing" is not so intangible after all. One cannot but realize the immense strides he is taking along the humanistic line as he feels his contact with the school increasing. Institute activities have long been the only means for a student to develop this side of himself, and they have served their purpose well—for those who have shown the foresight to acquire activity success. That the Faculty realizes the need for this development is well illustrated by the creation of the new course in Humanities. Yet this alone is not capable of providing all that a student needs.

Below is given in full the opinion of a western editor on one side of college activities. We must admit that there are in every school a number of students who are patterned pretty well after those who have shown the foresight to acquire activity success. That the Faculty realizes the need for this development is well illustrated by the creation of the new course in Humanities. Yet this alone is not capable of providing all that a student needs.

Below is given in full the opinion of a western editor on one side of college activities. We must admit that there are in every school a number of students who are patterned pretty well after those who have shown the foresight to acquire activity success. That the Faculty realizes the need for this development is well illustrated by the creation of the new course in Humanities. Yet this alone is not capable of providing all that a student needs.

Below is given in full the opinion of a western editor on one side of college activities. We must admit that there are in every school a number of students who are patterned pretty well after those who have shown the foresight to acquire activity success. That the Faculty realizes the need for this development is well illustrated by the creation of the new course in Humanities. Yet this alone is not capable of providing all that a student needs.

Below is given in full the opinion of a western editor on one side of college activities. We must admit that there are in every school a number of students who are patterned pretty well after those who have shown the foresight to acquire activity success. That the Faculty realizes the need for this development is well illustrated by the creation of the new course in Humanities. Yet this alone is not capable of providing all that a student needs.

Below is given in full the opinion of a western editor on one side of college activities. We must admit that there are in every school a number of students who are patterned pretty well after those who have shown the foresight to acquire activity success. That the Faculty realizes the need for this development is well illustrated by the creation of the new course in Humanities. Yet this alone is not capable of providing all that a student needs.

Below is given in full the opinion of a western editor on one side of college activities. We must admit that there are in every school a number of students who are patterned pretty well after those who have shown the foresight to acquire activity success. That the Faculty realizes the need for this development is well illustrated by the creation of the new course in Humanities. Yet this alone is not capable of providing all that a student needs.

Below is given in full the opinion of a western editor on one side of college activities. We must admit that there are in every school a number of students who are patterned pretty well after those who have shown the foresight to acquire activity success. That the Faculty realizes the need for this development is well illustrated by the creation of the new course in Humanities. Yet this alone is not capable of providing all that a student needs.

Below is given in full the opinion of a western editor on one side of college activities. We must admit that there are in every school a number of students who are patterned pretty well after those who have shown the foresight to acquire activity success. That the Faculty realizes the need for this development is well illustrated by the creation of the new course in Humanities. Yet this alone is not capable of providing all that a student needs.

Below is given in full the opinion of a western editor on one side of college activities. We must admit that there are in every school a number of students who are patterned pretty well after those who have shown the foresight to acquire activity success. That the Faculty realizes the need for this development is well illustrated by the creation of the new course in Humanities. Yet this alone is not capable of providing all that a student needs.

Below is given in full the opinion of a western editor on one side of college activities. We must admit that there are in every school a number of students who are patterned pretty well after those who have shown the foresight to acquire activity success. That the Faculty realizes the need for this development is well illustrated by the creation of the new course in Humanities. Yet this alone is not capable of providing all that a student needs.

Below is given in full the opinion of a western editor on one side of college activities. We must admit that there are in every school a number of students who are patterned pretty well after those who have shown the foresight to acquire activity success. That the Faculty realizes the need for this development is well illustrated by the creation of the new course in Humanities. Yet this alone is not capable of providing all that a student needs.

Below is given in full the opinion of a western editor on one side of college activities. We must admit that there are in every school a number of students who are patterned pretty well after those who have shown the foresight to acquire activity success. That the Faculty realizes the need for this development is well illustrated by the creation of the new course in Humanities. Yet this alone is not capable of providing all that a student needs.

Below is given in full the opinion of a western editor on one side of college activities. We must admit that there are in every school a number of students who are patterned pretty well after those who have shown the foresight to acquire activity success. That the Faculty realizes the need for this development is well illustrated by the creation of the new course in Humanities. Yet this alone is not capable of providing all that a student needs.