Prospects For A Winning Varsity Crew Are Bright

Close Competition is Expected for Oarsmen in First Three Boats

Prospects for a winning crew this year are very bright with the Varsity crews rowing in the Boat-house every morning at 6 o'clock. Fall sculling is gradually becoming an accepted part of the men's program each year, as the interest in rowing has thoroughly drilled the Corporation. The number of men available this year allows the coaches to devote their full attention to developing a championship crew.

In previous years, one or two Varsity crews were the maximum number that regularly practiced after Labor Day. This year, there are still enough men that have rowed at the Technology in the Spring to developing a winning crew. It allows the coaches to devote their full attention to the Autumn training and that the day of the Sophomore game may get their numbers any afternoon at 5 o'clock in the A. A. office.

FIFTY RIFLEMAN TURN OUT FOR FIRST PRACTICE

Two Stars of Championship Team Lost by Graduation—Many Veterans Back

LONG SCHEDULE PLANNED

Practice for the Varsity rifle team started yesterday, when over fifty marksmen from the varsity rifle club gathered in the hall constructed for the event. This was one of the most successful moves at the Institute, enjoyed a very good season last year, and should attain a large number of men this year. It is to be pointed out that a medium should not be a member of the team; his work is more than adequate. This year the team shoots against the Cadet rifle teams and the university rifle teams.

In March, the team will make a trip to Washington, D. C. to meet the U. S. Naval Academy and the George Washington University, national champions at the Intercollage National competition held in New York to compete in the National Rifle Association. The team will also have a match with the Institute of Technology.

There are several of last year's Varsity men reporting for practice, as well as many new men who find it necessary to develop up to their time with their crew this Fall season. The coaches have brought in about one hundred men in the Spring so that four Varsity crews are practically certain this season.

There are also several upperclassmen who are reporting at the Boat-house for the first time this Fall and who will probably make up a large part of the Sophomore crews in the Fall. This means that the coaches will have a very strong crew, and they are looking upon it as a very good year for developing a championship crew.

One interested is asked to turn out. Practice will be held at the Boat-house, Boston.

This year the Institute will fll the full bill of itself, and it is evident that the Institute is the team to beat in this year's matches. Cleary, Wiglesworth, Kenneff, Surtees, and ourselves are all going strong. We cannot keep the same form and it would not be surprising if the two top positions were swapped. The winner of the fourth match was again a close one, but the Sophomore team seems to have the edge under the guidance of Coach Hedlund.

The storm broke early in the day, and by night our lines were in a state of chaos, set in the distribution office all through that night and watched the battle fought out. What kept these lines on our job week for a good sleep? It wasn't wages—you can't pay men for such labor—it was just plain love of the game—just fighting spirit—Stone & Webster Spirit.

 Camp has been exceptionally good lately. The team is now at a point where the average time to be better than half of 46 seconds for each man made last year. Both teams will easily better this mark, but the Sophomore team seems to have the edge under the guidance of Coach Hedlund.
