Ninety-Six Colleges Represented in Westinghouse Student Course in 1928

Many Employe Company Right After Graduation from College

This year 1900 college seniors were employed by the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company. Many of these students had been accepted for the course of study at Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company and during the year were employed in various capacities and at different points. Nearly all of the 200 students, taken only 12 years ago, are now in full and efficient employment. The majority of these men are now in the United States, and the remainder in Europe.

For the forty-three years of the company's existence, it has been the policy to take college graduates for full-time students. Over 2000 men have been employed in the student course since the company adopted this policy. Many of the leading salesmen, engineering, manufacturing engineers, and others who have contributed to the growth of the Westinghouse as students in graduation from colleges.

The company has issued a bond and exploring its educational policies as related to college trained men. The policy is to give the student, when he has completed his course of study, a chance to study a problem, a chance to analyze the problem, and a chance to solve it.

Continuous Organ of the Students

Direct contact with this immense group of students in nearly every school in the country, they have concluded that there are a few things that need to be done. They are giving them because it seems that these are the only things that will add towards the unity of thought and spirit. And our efforts along these lines do well to stop and consider these few points. Why in the East the body of men who compiled the material which goes to the dorms report a good showing, and in the West the Sophia's committee, with the permission of the Social Committee, was shortly rescinded.
