Although the Sophomores were evidently disappointed in their loss to the Brahms, they are not discouraged about their chances. The Sophomores were perhaps a little too eager to please their fanatical crowd, and the Brahms, with their usual skill and determination, were able to manœuvre against the Sophomores and prevent them from scoring. The Brahms dominated the game from start to finish, and although the Sophomores put up a good fight, they were unable to overcome the superior skill of the Brahms. The final score was 1-0 in favor of the Brahms, who continued their perfect season with a victory over the Sophomores.
