FLYING CLUB WILL CLOSE DRIVE FOR NEW MEN TONIGHT

All Prospective Members Are Urged to Attend Meeting in Aero Building

PROGRAM STARTS AT 5

Student Members May Learn to Fly in Club Plane at the Annual Meeting Scheduled for Friday, November 13, 5:00 P.M.

At the annual meeting of the Flying Club, which will be held in the Aero Building at 5:00 P.M. Friday, November 13, several important matters will be disposed of. The chief points to be considered are:

1. Rules for training in the Club Plane
2. Reduced rates for flying lessons
3. Rules for taking out letters of credit on the Club
4. Report of the Engineers
5. Report of the Financial Committee
6. Election of new members

All those interested are urged to be present to assure the continuance of the flying activities of the club. The meeting is open to all members. Non-members may attend the meeting but not vote. Non-members who wish to join the club may learn the rules of the club and the rates for flying lessons at the meeting.

Hoover Wins in T.C.A. Election

Technology men favor Hoover for the presidency. This was brought out in the T.C.A. election held yesterday. Hoover's supporters, who believe that he is the strongest candidate, are to be expected to hold the main position at the meeting this afternoon. They are expected to have a victory vote of over 500. The meeting will be held in the new coffee room of the Aeronautical Engineering Society.

Hoover is expected to be elected after a second ballot, the first being held two weeks ago. The vote this time is expected to be larger, and it is a strong indication of the growing popularity of the candidate. Hoover's strength is strongest in the aeronautical engineering field, and he is expected to carry the majority of the votes there.

Beadle baseball may be dropped as spring sport

Lack of facilities and interest causes Advisory Council to consider change

Whether or not Beadle baseball will be played next spring is to be decided by the Advisory Council. There are several arguments on both sides of the question.

On the positive side of the argument, there are those who feel that the sport is a valuable addition to the athletic program, and that it provides an outlet for the athletic-minded students. They also point out that the sport is a good way to keep the students interested in baseball.

On the negative side, there are those who feel that the sport is not necessary and that the funds could be better spent on other sports. They also point out that the sport is expensive and that the funds could be better spent on other sports.

The Advisory Council will meet soon to decide whether or not the sport will be dropped. It is expected that they will make a decision soon.
