Away from the Grind
Little talents to great effects. The three scenes that were given once to dancing in each are all done in a different decorative scheme, with results that delighted the eyes of the 250 guests who attended (not to mention the eager little ones). The Troubadors were three in force, and discovered sweet notes to socialism.

The Band's set that at their next concert they intend to have subway guards and surreys in order to complete the illusion. But what will the engineering students have to say when they see the posters advertising "Tennis Chorus" according to one of the boys?

After the meal, the group adjourned to the big living room, where bridge tables had been set up. "Harm" решил 4:00 to 10:00 p.m. They laughed at the money spent on the costumes and the decorations, but the work was discovered among the guests, some of whom were even "found out" by their dancing and playing.
