When You're Asked to Address A Gathering

SOME day you may be a leader in your community—the man to whom everyone turns when strong counsel is wanted. Already you may be on the road to a broader service—contributing your time and thought to extra-curricular affairs—editing a paper, managing or playing on a team, doing social service work, acting for the dramatic club. Out of college the same opportunity for public service exists as in college. Men who are leaders in their profession are often leaders in civic affairs, too.

When you leave college you're going to meet Stone & Webster men. You'll find them taking an active part in the community-leading civic affairs in their lead. You'll find them managing transportation companies, operating and financing public utility companies and building industrial plants. You'll find the Stone & Webster organization is worth knowing and worth doing business with. The Stone & Webster training ably fits men for public service.
