Dr. C. Macio Campbell Describes Story of Brain and Its Abnormalities

"The Achievement of the Normal Life" was the subject of an address delivered before the Faculty Club at a meeting held last Thursday, Dr. Campbell in Professor of Psychiatry at the Harvard Medical School and Director of the Boston Psychopathic Hospital.

Dr. Campbell emphasized the fact that the only way to determine the normal brain is to have abnormal brains as well.

This is because even animals and plants are studied as well as humans and as a result a mass of information has been gathered regarding mental improvement.

Due to the fact that each case studied at the clinic is somewhat different than any of the others the results of the observations have to be discounted for each individual body.

The necessity for studying the mental involved in the disease of the physical life was stressed. The relation of sex was also mentioned by Dr. Campbell stating that sex was at the root of a great deal of the trouble.

The lecture was well attended and about ninety members of the faculty were present.
