CRIMSON VARSITY PICKED IN TRIAL RACE WITH J.V.'S

Second Freshman Crew Loses to Powerful Harvard Eight by Eight Lengths

High winds and rough water have just the Varsity and Junior Varsity crews on the upper basin for practices under the rain tomorrow with Harvard, and no time trials have been made up before them. The team met at last Saturday. The Harvard eight has also been forced to practice in its upper basin, and also have had no trials on the new course.

First Race At Four

In the first race of the afternoon, the Engineer Eight will row the Crimson yardlings in their first race this season. The team is to be assigned at four o'clock, the course, which ends near the banks. The 120-pound Varsity will row over the Henley distance, will race the second place Varsity over 1300 yards. At five o'clock, the Yale, who just lost their first race to the victorious Tiger eight, will meet the second place Crimson crew.

Second Freshman Loss

In the second round of the afternoon, the second place eight lost by nine points to the eighth and final place of the Crimson eight. The Engineers were eliminated at the start, and the Harvard boat was more than a length and a half in the lead when the boats were six lengths from the finish. Crimson crews.
