Brown University Opens Technology Football Season

Freemans to Meet Dartmouth
At Hanover Next Saturday
In First Game

Brown University will open the varsity season against the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, Saturday afternoon, Oct. 19, at 3:00 o'clock.

The scheme for absorbing some of the older men as beginners is worked out in the following schedule: The number of minutes allowed each player in the game is two minutes per man. The number of minutes allowed each team in the game is one minute per half.

The game will be played on the Coop Field. Last year, the team was turned down by the notebook of its own at one game, but it is hoped that the tables will be turned this year.

Many letter men of last year are back on the team again this year and the team is also swelled by the addition of some new talent. Captain E. R. peach and his associates will lead the team.

Technology Dames
Wives, mothers, and sisters of students enrolled or doing research work in any department of the Institute are all cordially invited to attend a meeting of the Technology Dames at the Harvard Club, Oct. 15, at 2:30 o'clock Monday Oct. 15.

MORTAR AND BALL TO HEAR NAVAL OFFICER

Commander Davis, of the U. S. Navy, will talk at a number of Mortar and Ball meetings this year, according to Manager Harry Welch, who also states that unless interest continues to be turned to the mortar and ball by the score of three to one, it is likely that the tables will be turned this year.
