ulty, plus or minus? The Interfraternity Conference, representing a majority of the fraternities at the Institute, must make a decision in the near future which will unquestionably make the attitude of that organization and the fraternities which it represents toward the future of the Memorial Building better suited to student needs. The possibility of holding one large dance in February instead of two or three small dances in March and April or in the fall and spring raises the question as to the best possible hall in which to hold such a function. Whether or not Walker Memorial is selected for that purpose is of vital importance in determining the value of fraternities to the undergraduate body and to Technology.

The tendency on the part of Institute students to take advantage of Walker Memorial's present conveniences regardless of the fact that they may not be quite so satisfactory as those obtainable elsewhere has been increasing encouragingly since last spring. It has been impressed upon the major portion of the student body that the Alumni who have been dependent for the financing of the project of a new Walker Memorial must be satisfied that the present building and its facilities are adequate to the extent of being maintained as an organization and enlargement. It is absurd to argue that a favorable impression upon these men may be made by a refusal to use the building as it stands, inasmuch as its facilities are inadequate. Loyalty, rather than revolt, will gain us to a much greater degree and with much greater rapidity.

The Junior Prom was held last spring and will be held again this spring in Walker Memorial, but it is under the graduate body's growing appreciation of this rudimentary fact. That the social highlight of the school year is held in this building should carry sufficient import among the committees of the lesser social activities to assure a contribution of support from that source.

The fraternities constitute a vital part of the student body at Tech, and it is of utmost importance that they be in no way severed their organized sentiment with the existing opinion of that body. The combined effort of those fraternities on their part, in expressing the desire for a larger Walker Memorial building, is as necessary as that of any other undergraduate group. The lack of it, or a declaration of opposition to student opinion, will be more to their discredit in the future than it can be effaced by that Coordinated Campaign in a movement where every individual student must contribute his bit in the carrying out of its purpose.

A new Walker Memorial is not in the far distant future, contrary to occasional opinion among discontented bodies. The combined effort of those fraternities, on this point, is the need for additional facilities in the student body building. It could assist to the students' wishes in the minds and actions of the Alumni, and a considerable amount of discussion and opinion is necessary to bring this idea into being among the various groups of former students. Does it behove us, then, to make the issue in the carrying out of its purpose?

A new Walker Memorial is not in the far distant future, contrary to occasional opinion among discontented bodies. The combined effort of those fraternities, on this point, is the need for additional facilities in the student body building. It could assist to the students' wishes in the minds and actions of the Alumni, and a considerable amount of discussion and opinion is necessary to bring this idea into being among the various groups of former students. Does it behove us, then, to make the issue in the carrying out of its purpose?

A new Walker Memorial is not in the far distant future, contrary to occasional opinion among discontented bodies. The combined effort of those fraternities, on this point, is the need for additional facilities in the student body building. It could assist to the students' wishes in the minds and actions of the Alumni, and a considerable amount of discussion and opinion is necessary to bring this idea into being among the various groups of former students. Does it behove us, then, to make the issue in the carrying out of its purpose?