Finishing the details of their preparations for the combined Technological-Boston University Prom, which will be held Friday night at the Hotel Somerville, several members of the committee have been busy arranging the seating in the present auditorium and making up the plans for the festivities that will be held by the Boston University students. The Student Council has been busy working on the social side of the program and will seek to present an outstanding program for the concert. There will be songs, dancing, and other entertainments. The Boston University students have arranged for a dance to be given on the day following the concert.
