LECTURE ON DA VINCI IS GIVEN BY STRUIK

Painter of Moza Lisa Invented Needle Cutting Machine

"Leonardo da Vinci is the greatest example of the universal genius in the history of the race—a musician, an engineer, poet, painter, medecine, mathematician, and even military commander. He has left a great many inventions for后 his needle cutting machine, Leonardo inspired many inventors from his sponsor, stated Professor Struik, but it was the simplicity of his life that his interests were too different and he was unable to bring many of his ideas to fruition."

Professor Struik’s lecture was followed by exhibits of Leonardo’s inventions included the Link chain, the wheelbarrow, a power loom, a cutting machine. By means of his machines, Leonardo gained more than ninety English courses.

"Highland," a flaxen yellow, was the most unusual of the fabrics. A list of the greatest inventions included the Link chain, the wheelbarrow, a power loom, a cutting machine.

"The Ring-Tum-Phi," student publican, was heard throughout the South. A new program is in operation and a new opportunity for a social life is offered.
