HORNETS WITH MEAT. Mr. Thomas, an energetic and capable individual, 20th Century financier, addressed the students and faculty members in a meeting at which President Compton was also present.

A question to which everyone knows the answer was, "When did the ATM, Automatic Teller Machine, go out of service?" Tom answered, "The ATM is still in service."

Mr. Thomas then went on to explain the importance of education and the need for students to work hard and be persistent in their studies. He emphasized the value of having a good college education and encouraged students to take advantage of the opportunities available to them.

Mr. Thomas also spoke about the importance of maintaining a positive attitude and the value of perseverance. He encouraged students to stay focused on their goals and to not give up in the face of challenges.

Mr. Thomas concluded his speech by expressing his gratitude for the hospitality shown to him and his wife during their visit to the university. He ended by wishing the students and faculty members a successful and productive year.

---

October 25, 2010

The New York Times

Mr. Thomas said that Russia alone is still a dictatorial state with a single party. According to Thomas, the only way to change this is through concerted efforts to spread democracy and freedom throughout the world.

Mr. Thomas also spoke about the importance of education and the need for students to work hard and be persistent in their studies. He emphasized the value of having a good college education and encouraged students to take advantage of the opportunities available to them.

Mr. Thomas also spoke about the importance of maintaining a positive attitude and the value of perseverance. He encouraged students to stay focused on their goals and to not give up in the face of challenges.

Mr. Thomas concluded his speech by expressing his gratitude for the hospitality shown to him and his wife during their visit to the university. He ended by wishing the students and faculty members a successful and productive year.

---

October 25, 2010

The New York Times

Mr. Thomas said that Russia alone is still a dictatorial state with a single party. According to Thomas, the only way to change this is through concerted efforts to spread democracy and freedom throughout the world.

Mr. Thomas also spoke about the importance of education and the need for students to work hard and be persistent in their studies. He emphasized the value of having a good college education and encouraged students to take advantage of the opportunities available to them.

Mr. Thomas also spoke about the importance of maintaining a positive attitude and the value of perseverance. He encouraged students to stay focused on their goals and to not give up in the face of challenges.

Mr. Thomas concluded his speech by expressing his gratitude for the hospitality shown to him and his wife during their visit to the university. He ended by wishing the students and faculty members a successful and productive year.