The American College

"Ball Session"
Every college student is familiar with that custom bound down to us through the ages, in which every college woman knows the holding of "ball sessions." In my own time, as the editor is addressed on the topic of the "Ball Session" at Harvard, it is often considered an "insult" to the student body. It is a custom that is observed in many colleges, and it is considered a necessity for the students to have a "ball session" in order to bond together and enjoy each other's company.

The return of the "Ball Session" brings with it a new theme of entertainment and socializing. It is an important aspect of college life and is a way for students to relax and enjoy each other's company.
