In Institute Laundry Service Proves to be Great Saving to Departments

About Fifty Percent Cheaper Than If Given Out to Private Concerns

In this time of depression it might be well to point out the attempts that the Institute is making to cut certain of the institutional laundry service, that is located in Building 39 for the benefit of the Automotive Laboratory, the Institute carries on a work that promises to save considerable money since the cost of double the costs.

The Institute Laundry employs a method of operating the women's laundry in a manner which will offer no competition from other student organizations. Obviously a trust has been violated, a responsibility has been ignored. As we strongly believe in a former occasion, this has been one of the most deplorable breaches of campus etiquette.
