ACQUIRE NEW SHELL

New Craft Arrives From Day's Boat Shop; To Be Used Next Week

With warm weather approaching and with the advent of a new shell, the Techoarsmen are preparing themselves for some rowing. Last fall, after much talk and much trouble over the Charles, beginning some few weeks late, their shells were promised by some means and at some date in the future. But around the boat for. But for the last few months the cold weather has muted much of the bluster and has allowed the oarsmen to get back to the business of rowing.

New Shell Delivered Saturday

Last Saturday saw the delivery of a new shell to the boat shop of the Rigging Committee to get the new 1932 shell in the water for the first time.

Torbit. Torbit, never a particularly outstanding rower, has been working himself up to being qualified for the varsity crew.

The coxswain now riding in the varsity shell is Dun-fits. Lawrence is captain, and rows stroke.

Only One New Varsity Man

One of the big problems this year is the new shell situation. The eams do not row very well at all. It is as if the old varsity shell was to be leased out to the novice crews.

Dr. Davis R. Dewey, head of the department of English at MIT, was recently in the boat shop and was impressed with the quality of the new shell.
